Pope Francis no more

Vatican City, Apr. 21 (Agencies)- Pope Francis, the first Latin American Pope and a transformative figure in the Catholic Church, passed away this morning at the age of 88.

"At 7.35 this morning, the Bishop of Rome, Francis, returned to the home of the Father. His entire life was dedicated to the service of the Lord and of his Church," Cardinal Kevin Ferrell, the Vatican camerlengo, announced solemnly.

The Pope had been admitted to Gemelli Hospital on Feb. 14, 2025, after suffering a respiratory crisis that progressed into double pneumonia.

He battled the illness for 38 days — the longest hospitalisation of his 12-year papacy. Despite his fragile health, Francis made a final public appearance at Saint Peter's Square on Easter Sunday, just a day before his passing.

Pope Francis [17.12.1936 - 21.4.2025]

Born Jorge Mario Bergoglio on Dec. 17, 1936, in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Francis was ordained as a priest in 1969 and later became Archbishop of Buenos Aires in 1998. Elevated to Cardinal by Pope John Paul II in 2001, he served as Primate See of Argentina until he was elected Pope on Mar. 13, 2013, following the resignation of Pope Benedict XVI.

Throughout his papacy, Pope Francis was known for his humility, reformist zeal and focus on social justice, climate change and interfaith dialogue. He broke centuries of tradition by choosing the name "Francis," inspired by Saint Francis of Assisi and was widely regarded as a Pope of the people. The Vatican is expected to announce details of the funeral and period of mourning shortly.

According to Archbishop Diego Ravelli, Master of Apostolic Ceremonies, the late Pope Francis had requested that the funeral rites be simplified and focused on expressing the faith of the Church in the Risen Body of Christ.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

THE ART OF SELF-CONTROL: In an age of information overload and constant external stimuli, self-control has become a rare virtue. Self-control involves two key aspects — managing internal desires and limiting exposure to external temptations. Disciplined practice starts with external and gradually turns internal. Every interaction with the world plants seeds for future desires. The more we expose ourselves to temptations, the stronger they grow. Therefore, consciously reducing unnecessary contact — whether through digital distractions or indulgent habits — helps in breaking the cycle of compulsion. Even simple acts, such as switching off the phone for a few hours, serve as a training ground for restraint. A sudden withdrawal may lead to frustration and relapse. Instead, gradually reduce external contact and avoid new stimuli. Where desires are strong, mere abstinence fails — redirecting them toward the divine, with the help of external support known as satsang, association with the good is essential. However, general satsang is ineffective; spiritual association must address personal temptations. Remember, temptations make you forget your goal.

Contrary to common belief, restraint is not about suppression — it is a tool for self-discovery. Withdrawal gives us an opportunity to become aware of hidden attachments. Fasting, silence or any form of disciplined abstinence exposes our dependencies, allowing us to consciously transcend them. However, prolonged withdrawal without spiritual redirection can lead to frustration. Therefore, replacing indulgence with sattvic alternatives is essential for transformation.

Discipline builds awareness. Ignorance is a cycle of doing the right thing and then undoing it! For instance, we strive to refrain speaking ill of others. But practically one can talk endlessly about someone's faults, but struggle to do the same about virtues. This only shows our affinity is towards negativity. This is ignorance. True transformation requires both knowledge and restraint. Moreover, every individual serves as a stimulus to others. The way we conduct ourselves subtly influences those around us. Being mindful of what we project into the world ensures that we become source of inspiration rather than distractions. In essence, self-control is not about withdrawal but about mindful engagement. By minimising unnecessary interactions, associating with the divine in areas of weakness and consciously refining our speech, thoughts and actions, we create an environment that nurtures inner growth.

Half-marathon for humans and robots!

Beijing: Robots have raced against humans in a half-marathon for the first time. Some 21 humanoid robots raced alongside thousands of runners around the 21-km course in Beijing on Saturday. Some of the robots that took part were as short as 3ft 9in, while others were as tall as 5ft 9in.

They had to resemble humans and be able to walk/ run — wheels were not allowed. The winning robot was Tiangong Ultra, which crossed the finishing line with a time of two hours and 40 minutes, while the men's winner of the race had a time of one hour and two minutes. Tang Jian, chief technology officer for the creator of the robot, said its performance was aided by long legs and an algorithm allowing it to imitate how humans run a marathon.

A wooden temple sans cutting trees

Sirikonda: The tribals in Vayupeta, a remote forest hamlet in Sirikonda mandal of Adilabad district in Telangana constructed a Mahankali temple from wood without cutting a single tree.

The community has worshipped Mahankali in a humble hut for generations. However, a villager, Kinaka Shambhu visited Nepal and was inspired by the wooden temples there. He was then determined to build something similar in his native village. He returned with a dream to build something similar and the entire village supported him.

The construction of the temple began in 2023 using fallen trees damaged by rain and forest fires. Sambhu said that they didn't cut down a single living tree. "We only used what the forest had already shed," he said. The temple has 26 handcrafted wooden pillars, a gopuram, sanctum sanctorum, main gate, and walls which were all made of wood.

Road widening: New thinking needed

Sir,

We have already lost 40 trees for road-widening by MCC (Urban Development Ministry). PWD seeks to fell 175 trees at Dattagalli, concerning a 66/11 KV HT power line (PWD Ministry + Electric Power Ministry — KPTCL). Manandavadi Road widening requires 125 trees for felling (PWD Ministry + State Roads and Highways Ministry).

How can citizens deal with multiple Ministries on a case-to-case basis? The Forest Ministry remains under pressure from all sides. There is no end to widening of urban roads to accommodate private vehicles (four-wheelers + two-wheelers) being registered at 400 every day.

Tree-cutting for road widening is a short-term solution causing double loss, because it causes loss of oxygen generating capacity and at the same time growing traffic increases exhaust gases. The automotive and construction industries benefit financially, but everybody loses by suffering ill-health and eventually society loses.

The ONLY viable long-term solution is to dis-incentivise personal vehicles, along with providing public transport on more routes with more frequency. Indore (Madhya Pradesh) has done it. WHY CAN'T MYSURU DO IT?

—Maj. Gen. S.G. Vombatkere (Retd.)

Mysuru 20.4.2025

NOTE: Mysuru is a planned city though an old city. Thanks to our Maharajas and their visionary Dewans like Sir M. Visvesvaraya and Sir Mirza Ismail. Except for the need for a few flyovers, the old city roads need not be widened by cutting trees. With a vision of future, our Maharajas had left 10 to 15 ft. space on either side of old roads. That was how JLB Road and Vinoba Road were widened without cutting trees. As for new layouts, same vision must be displayed by MCC and MUDA. —Ed

Drug abuse, crime, traffic woes dominate NR Police-Public Meet

SP Seema Latkar, DCP (Law & Order) M. Muthuraju and ACPs Shivashankar & C.K. Ashwathnarayan seen during a Janasamparka (Police-Public Interaction) Meeting held at Shivaji Park in N.R. Mohalla on Saturday.

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (SBD&VNS)- At a Janasamparka (Police-Public Interaction) Meeting held at Shivaji Park in N.R. Mohalla on Saturday, chaired by Mysuru City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, residents raised alarm over the rampant drug abuse, traffic mismanagement, and law and order concerns plaguing the locality.

The meeting, held under the NR Sub-Division to address policing and civic issues, witnessed strong complaints from residents who alleged that ganja and other narcotic substances were being consumed openly in public spaces, including parks and even burial grounds during night hours.

They urged the Police to crack down on the sale and use of narcotics, particularly among the youth.

Unregulated parking, encroachments

Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Contractors Association President Uday Kumar pointed out that Shivaji Road, which connects to the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway, suffers from severe traffic bottlenecks due to unregulated parking near commercial complexes and convention halls.

"The area also sees groups of alcoholics and drug users at night, worsening the situation," he noted. Footpath encroachments were another concern, with residents complaining that cleared encroachers had returned, again obstructing pedestrian movement.

Dangerous drug trend

Residents expressed concern about a drug injection allegedly starting with the letter 'M', reportedly sold illegally at inflated prices by some medical shops. They urged Police to meet with pharmacy owners and curb illegal sales to minors.

A specific instance was cited near a shop in Bannimantap 'C' Layout where young addicts reportedly gather to smoke and sometimes engage in violent fights. The residents said they had asked the MCC to revoke the shop's trade license.

Murder cases, threats

Residents linked the surge in drug abuse to recent violent crimes. "In the past five months alone, four to five murders have occurred in NR Constituency, some involving friends or relatives under the influence," they said.

Advocate Mudassir Khan highlighted administrative inaction in curbing the drug menace and cited a case where a complaint filed in December 2024 against a chit fund fraudster has seen no follow-up.

Women and elderly residents like Nirmala reported being threatened by drug users for confronting them and another resident, Praveen, urged the Police to inspect PG accommodations and hostels for illegal activity. BJP leader Manjunath flagged the suspicious presence of numerous Kerala-registered vehicles in the locality.

Residents also demanded early closure of tea shops, the relocation of certain wine stores, and action against illegal waste dumping in Old Kesare, where the burning of tyres is reportedly affecting public health.

Syed Iqbal requested that sheep vendors be allowed to use the Torchlight Parade Grounds during the upcoming Bakrid festival to avoid traffic congestion at LIC Circle.

Commissioner responds

Responding to public grievances, Commissioner Seema Latkar assured residents that necessary action would be taken on all fronts, including drug enforcement, traffic regulation and civic coordination.

She also unveiled a new poster under the 'Mane Manegu Police' (Police for every household) initiative, listing Beat Police contact numbers for local areas.

The meeting was attended by DCP (Law & Order) M. Muthuraju, ACPs Shivashankar and C.K. Ashwathnarayan, and other senior officers.

Heritage cast iron poles add glitter to Mysore Palace

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BLU&VNS)- The Mysore Palace Board has replaced old, dilapidated cement electric poles within the Palace premises with newly installed heritage-style cast iron poles.

Following this decision, a tender worth Rs. 15 lakh was awarded through the e-procurement process for the installation of new poles.

A total of 24 cement poles have been removed and replaced with anti-rust cast iron poles designed to complement the heritage aesthetics of the Palace. However, the fibre domes atop the old poles have been retained, as they remain in good condition.

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BCT)- In a significant step towards preserving India's rich manuscript heritage, the Mysuru-based Oriental Research Institute (ORI), affiliated to the University of Mysore, has entered into an agreement with the Jagadguru Sri Shankaracharya Mahasamsthana Dakshinamnaya Sri Sharada Peetham, Sringeri.

The collaboration aims to catalogue and preserve thousands of ancient, unpublished manuscripts. As part of the project, scholars from both institutions will prepare a detailed descriptive catalogue of approximately 13,000 unpublished manuscripts.

Illegal tree felling rocks St. Philomena's College

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BCT)- As Mysuru reels from the felling of 40 trees for the widening of Hyder Ali Road, another green scandal has emerged — this time within the historic St. Philomena's College campus at Bannimantap.

Over 10 mature trees, including valuable species such as Teak, Rosewood and Peepal, were allegedly chopped down illegally on the college premises.

The Catholic Kannada Christian Association filed a formal complaint with Mysuru's Assistant Conservator of Forests on Friday, accusing College Principal Father Lourd Prasad Joseph, who took charge in June 2024 June and current Principal Dr. Ravi J.D. Saldanha of orchestrating the felling of trees without Forest Department clearance.

According to the complaint, the fully grown trees were clandestinely removed and transported to an undisclosed location overnight, raising serious questions about motive and transparency.

Symbol of ecological harmony

Founded in 1946, St. Philomena's College has long stood as a symbol of ecological harmony — a lush, green oasis in the heart of Mysuru. Its verdant campus, dotted with Teak, Rosewood, Peepal and Sandalwood trees, provided more than just shade — it was a living classroom where generations of teachers instilled a deep respect for nature in their students.

This enduring commitment to conservation played a significant role in the institution securing National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) accreditation, say sources close to the college. Now, that legacy lies under a cloud.

The Catholic Kannada Christian Association has demanded stringent legal action against the college management, calling the recent illegal tree felling a "betrayal of the institution's environmental heritage." Their outrage is echoed by environmentalists across the city.

Approval mandatory

Though the college is private property and technically owns the trees within its boundaries, felling trees without prior approval from the Forest Department is a punishable offence under Karnataka's forest laws.

Such clearance is granted only in specific circumstances, like when trees are dead, dangerous, or obstructing essential development. None of these conditions appears to apply in this case, the Association has stated.

Despite legal requirements, the management of St. Philomena's College allegedly went ahead and cut down more than ten mature trees without securing permission. There is no official record of the exact date of felling, nor details about the species or age of the trees.

Yet what is clear is that the act is in direct violation of forest regulations and has degraded campus environment. It is a lapse that many believe the college's highly educated administrators could not plausibly claim ignorance of. The trees were reportedly removed in the dead of night and transported to an undisclosed location. The Forest Department has confirmed receiving the complaint two days ago and has assured that an investigation is underway, with appropriate action to follow.

Unauthorised tree felling case to be registered

"A complaint was lodged two days ago regarding the illegal felling of trees within the premises of St. Philomena's College in Mysuru. Although the campus is private property and the trees are under its ownership, the college management proceeded to cut them down without obtaining mandatory permission from the Forest Department. The complaint is being treated seriously and a site inspection will be conducted to assess the number and species of trees that were felled. The findings will be submitted to senior officials and a formal case will be registered for unauthorised tree felling."

Rare trees at risk: Dr. Javeed Nayeem

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BCT)- Reacting to the unauthorised tree felling at St. Philomena's College, noted physician and Star of Mysore columnist Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem expressed deep concern, linking it to the ongoing wave of tree destruction in Mysuru.

"Alongside the disturbing news of avenue trees being axed across Mysuru, we now have this unfortunate incident within the serene campus of St. Philomena's College," he said.

Dr. Nayeem revealed that the college houses some extremely rare tree species, not found anywhere else in the city. "These trees were carefully collected and planted by the early Botany faculty shortly after the college was established," he recalled.

Having personally contributed to the identification and labelling of all trees on the campus during St. Philomena's NAAC accreditation process, Dr. Nayeem said he is acutely aware of the location and significance of these trees. The college earned an A+ grade in its very first accreditation attempt — thanks in part to its green wealth, he noted. Now, four of these rare trees face the axe as part of a proposal to shift the main entrance of the college — a move he strongly opposes.

Retired DGP Om Prakash murdered, wife arrested

Pallavi threw chilli powder at Ex-Top Cop; tied him up, stabbed him with kitchen knife: Police

Bengaluru, Apr. 21 (Agencies)- Former Karnataka Director General of Police (DGP) Om Prakash (68), was found murdered at his Bengaluru residence last evening. According to Police sources, he was allegedly killed by his wife, Pallavi, following a heated argument over a property dispute.

This morning, the HSR Layout Police Station officers formally arrested Pallavi after she was interrogated for over 12 hours following the crime. Preparations are underway to present her before the Court this evening. Om Prakash's son, Karthikesh, filed a complaint regarding the brutal murder of his father.

Investigators believe the altercation turned violent around 4 pm on the ground floor of their three-storey home in HSR Layout. During the fight, Pallavi reportedly threw chilli powder at him, tied him up and stabbed him multiple times using two kitchen knives, Police said.

He also suffered injuries from a glass bottle. His body was found with stab wounds to the abdomen, chest, neck, and back of the head, lying in a pool of blood.

Pallavi and their daughter were present in the house at the time. Police say the daughter, who was upstairs, is not suspected of being involved. The couple's daughter-in-law is believed to have arrived later.

Video call to a friend

Shortly after the incident, Pallavi made a video call to the wife of another retired IPS Officer, allegedly stating she had "killed a monster." She also dialled the emergency helpline 112, prompting Police and forensic officers to rush to the scene. Two weapons were recovered from the home and no signs of forced entry were found. Pallavi and her daughter were detained at the scene and questioned for over 12 hours. Police are still probing whether the daughter played any role in the murder.

Property dispute

Initial investigations point to a long-standing property dispute as the motive. Pallavi was reportedly upset over her husband's decision to transfer property to his sisters. Sources say the couple had been experiencing deep marital discord, with frequent arguments in recent months. Pallavi had allegedly voiced her grievances publicly, even staging a protest outside their home on one occasion.

Tributes to Om Prakash

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BLU&BCT)- Law Guide Foundation had organised a programme at a private hotel in city this morning to pay tribute to former DGP Om Prakash, who was found murdered last evening in Bengaluru.

Retired SP Rajendra Prasad, who spoke, said "Om Prakash was not just a senior Police officer; he was a father figure to many of us. His knowledge of law and order, coupled with his mentoring spirit, left a lasting impression. At Karnataka Police Academy, he trained hundreds with patience and discipline. It's disheartening that he had to face such a tragic end."

Retired Dy.SP R. Girijesh highlighted Om Prakash's support for the Law Guide Foundation and recalled his generosity during his tenure as DGP.

"When the Retired Police Officers' Association sought support, he arranged for release of Rs. 10 crore. He often reminded us that though the Police serve society tirelessly, they must not forget their own families."

Mysore Bar Association President Lokesh described the late DGP as "a humble and down-to-earth individual who always encouraged juniors."

Among those present were Bar Association former President Ramamurthy, 'Law Guide' Editor H.N. Venkatesh, businessman Abhishek Hegde, BJP leader Shambhu Hemant, Inspector Purushotham and advocates Nagaraju and Jaishankar.

A Soulful Singing...

On the occasion of its 109th Sri Ramanavami celebrations, the management committee of the sacred and heritage-rich Rama Mandira delighted music lovers by arranging excellent concerts by eminent artistes. One such memorable performance was by Vidushi Dr. N.J. Nandini.

Dr. Nandini, a fine vocalist hailing from a musical family, developed an interest in music at a very young age. She has been mentored by several accomplished gurus. A vibrant and expressive performer, her concert on April 11 at Sri Bidaram Krishnappa's Sri Prasanna Seetharama Mandira was a testament to her artistry. Accompanied by Vidu. Dr. Jyotsna Srikanth on violin, Vidu. H.S. Sudheendra on mridanga and Vid. Sreenidhi on ghata, Nandini showcased her deep understanding of Karnatak music, captivating the rasikas of Mysuru with her charm and musical depth.

Her mature manodharma shone through in every alapana and kalpana swara she rendered. The emphasis she places on bhava and classicism is evident in each composition she presents — these elements make her concerts particularly engaging. A blissful experience indeed. 'Marivere Dikkevarayya Rama,' a composition of Patnam Subramanya Iyer in the raga Shanmukhapriya, highlighted her clear diction and depth of raga bhava. A neraval at 'Sannuthanga Shree Venkatesha Neevu' was a classical treat, featuring melodic improvisations and colourful swaras by both Nandini and Jyotsna.

'Gopalaka Paahimam Anisham,' a beautiful composition by Maharaja Swathi Thirunal in raga Bhoopalam, was soothing and leisurely, setting a graceful tone. As if to enhance the mood, Nandini followed with a soulful alapana in Khamach. Both artistes were at their expressive best.

As expected, Mysore Vasudevacharya's 'Brochevarevarura' was warmly received. The familiar chitteswara passages were delightful and to the listeners' pleasant surprise, the chitteswara transitioned into a springboard for creative kalpana swaras! Needless to say, the audience was thoroughly thrilled.

Vidushi Dr. N.J. Nandini from Kerala performing at Ganavisharadha Sri Bidaram Krishnappa's Sri Prasanna Seetharama Mandira on Narayana Shastri Road in city on Apr. 11 as part of 109th Ramanavami Annual Heritage Music Festival. She is accompanied by Dr. Jyotsna Srikanth on violin, Vid. H.S. Sudheendra on mridanga and Vid. Sreenidhi on ghata.

Muthuswami Dikshitar's 'Mamava Pattabhirama' in raga Manirangu and 'Ninu Jeppa Karanamemi Rama,' another gem from Patnam Subramanya Iyer in raga Mandari, paved the way for the main raga of the concert — Todi. Nandini took her time with it, unfolding the grandeur of the raga in a detailed and majestic manner. Jyotsna's raga interpretation was equally commendable — she is undoubtedly a brilliant violinist.

'Dachuko Valeno Dasharathi,' a Tyagaraja composition in Jhampa tala, was sumptuous. The neraval at 'Nemamuna Paricarya Nerpuna Bogaduvela Soumitri Tyagarajuni' was soaked in classicism. The engaging musical dialogue between the vocalist and the violinist during the neraval and kalpana swaras was particularly lively. The tani avartanam was delightful, thanks to the seasoned artistry of Sudheendra and the youthful energy of Srinidhi. The tukkadas that followed were melodious, set in lovely ragas like Behag and Suruti. 'Naneke Badavanu' by Purandara Dasa was especially moving and will undoubtedly linger in the hearts of rasikas for a long time.

WORD OF THE DAY

Resurrection

Pronunciation: rez-uh-REK-shun (Noun)
Meaning: In Christian theology, Resurrection (typically capitalized in this use) refers to the event in which Jesus Christ returned to life after his death. In general contexts, resurrection refers to the act of causing something that had ended or been forgotten or lost to exist again, to be used again, etc.
Origin: The word resurrection first arose in English in the 14th century, coming from the Anglo-French word resurreccioun, which in turn comes from the Late Latin verb resurgere, meaning "to rise from the dead." Originally, the word was used in Christian contexts to refer to the rising of Christ from the dead or to the festival celebrating this rising (now known as Easter). Perhaps showing the influence of the Late Latin verb resurgere's Latin forerunner, which could mean "to rise again" (as from a recumbent position) as well as "to spring up again after being cut" (used of plants), resurrection soon began to be used more generally in the senses of "resurgence" or "revival." It even forms part of the name of the resurrection fern, an iconic fern of the southern United States often seen growing on the limbs of live oak trees. The fern is so named due to the fact that in dry weather it curls up, turns brown, and appears dead, only to be "brought back to life" when exposed to moisture.
Example: "Some of their efforts to follow Scripture were wonderfully zany. To wrest the death and resurrection of Jesus away from both pagan fertility rituals and Hallmark, they outlawed Easter egg hunts. ... She smashed chocolate Easter bunnies with a meat tenderizer and ripped the heads off marshmallow Peeps, while the boys gleefully gobbled the ruined remnants of consumer culture." — Eliza Griswold, Circle of Hope: A Reckoning with Love, Power, and Justice in an American Church, 2024

PHRASE OF THE DAY

On the Fence

Meaning: The phrase 'On the Fence' is used to describe being undecided about something.
Origin: The origin of 'on the fence' has its roots in Middle English, when the word 'fens', short for 'defens' was originated. Later, an "e" was added to the term to form the word defense as it is used today. Fences often define ownership, and to sit on a physical fence is to straddle a position between two different properties. Metaphorically, sitting on the fence is straddling the position between two ideas without committing to either of them.
Example: "Has he decided whether he will take the job yet?" Answer: "No, he's still on the fence."

PFA Mysore holds free anti-rabies vaccination camp in 12 villages

Mysuru, Apr. 21 (BCT)- In a concerted effort to curb the spread of rabies and promote responsible pet care, People For Animals (PFA) Mysore, in collaboration with Alcavio Technologies Ltd., organised a free anti-rabies vaccination camp across several localities in and around Mysuru on Friday.

The initiative focused on vaccinating stray and community dogs while also spreading awareness on responsible pet ownership and the importance of Animal Birth Control (ABC) surgeries. A total of 159 dogs were vaccinated during the drive, which covered Beerihundi, Gopalpura, Hullahalli, Daripura, Jayapura, Annahalli, Salhundi, Udbur, Dodpura, Jettihundi, K.M. Halli and Anaganahalli.

The medical team, led by Dr. Amardeep Singh and supported by para-veterinarians Ratan and Gopal, ensured safe and efficient administration of the vaccines. Dog-catching duties were handled by Manoj and Lalsingh, with logistics supported by Driver Shivkumar and Manager Anil.

In addition to vaccinations, the team conducted an awareness campaign educating the public on the significance of regular anti-rabies shots and humane methods to manage the stray dog population through ABC procedures. The initiative marks another step towards building a rabies-free and compassionate community, reinforcing the ongoing commitment to animal welfare.
